HILL AMUSES THE SENATE

AN ATTACK ON WHAT HE STYLED A POPULISTIC RESOLUTION.

Peffer Proposed to Investigate Whethre Secretary Caritals Profited by the Bond Sales, and Senator Hill Challenged Any Senator to Rise and Make the Charge. WASRINGTON, April 10. Senator Gray (Dem.

fiel,) concluded his argument to-day against the right of Mr. Dupont to the vacant seat in the senate from the State of Delaware. The case then went over till some future day, and the resolution offered by Mr. Peffer (Pop., Kan.) for an investigation into the facts and circumstances connected with the recent bond issue was taken up. Mr. Hill opposed the resolution in a speech which attracted and amused Senstors and spectators for nearly three hours, and which he had not finished when the Senate adfourned.

Mr. Hill said that it was a Populistic resolution, and was to be passed, if at all, not because of specific allegations against the honorable Secretary of the Treasury, but because public curiosity was to be gratified. The extraordinary character of the proceeding should therefore be commented upon at the outset. They were to have the spectacle of a Congressional investigation, with no one responsible for any distinct, certaite allegation of wrongdoing. It was to be an investigation for the novelty of it, for the fun of it. There was no question to be investigated. Everybody knew what had been done and that it had been done in pursuance of law. The annual reports of the Secretary of the Treasury showed what had been done. Special reports had been made from time to time detailing all the operations of the Treasury. Therefore it was silly, it was undignified, it was unworthy of the Senate to appoint a special investigating committee to determine facts which every Senator was absolutely familiar with.

Mr. Hill said that one of the points to be investigated was whether any officer of the Government had received a commission or a personal reward in connection with these bonds "What Senator," he exclaimed, "dares to rise in his place and make the allegation? No one Has anybody made an affidavit to that effect? No. Where is the Senator who rises in his place and says he expects to prove that Mr. Carlisle or any subordinate gained one dollar of Mr. Atlen (Pop., Neb.)-That is not the ques-

Mr. Ailen (Pop., Neb.)—That is not the question at all.

Mr. Hill.—The Senator from Nebraska, another Populist, says that it is not the question. What is the question?

Mr. Ailen referred to a statement made in a New York newspaper to the effect that $18., 000,000 had been made by a syndicate out of recent bond issues, and asked him whether that was not worthy of investigation.

Mr. Hill replied that if the Sonate was to investigate all the insiniations contained from time to time in the New York newspapers, it would have its hands full.

What would the Government have done, he asked, if the President and the Secretary of the Treasury had not issued (law or no law Government bonds last year? The Secretary of the Treasury deserved the thanks of the Senate for his steady purpose in maintaining the credit of Treasury deserved the thanks of the Senate for his steady pursoes in maintaining the credit of the country. Senators might differ with Mr. Carlisle. They might think that he had erred in the discharge of a bortion of his duty. That was one thing. It did not follow that it was proper to investigate under the instinuation contained in the resolution—whether some of the money might not have stuck to his fingers.

Mr. Stewart (Pop., Nev.) asked Mr. Hill whether the Administration was opposed to the investigation.

whether the Administration was opposed to the investigation.

"I am not authorized to speak for the Administration." Mr. Hill replied. "I have never exchanged a word with any officer of this Administration, high or low, on this subject, and I do not propose to, I oppose it as I would oppose any foolish, silly, unnecessary investigation, which can only, in my humble judgment, addidisgrace to the Senate. I would oppose it whether the Secretary of the Treasury was a Democrat or a Repurlican. If this resolution shall pass, the men who instituted the investigation will be covered with humlination and shame, and will deny that they ever charged anything wrong against Mr. Carlisie and his subordinates."

anything wrong against Mr. Carlisic and his subordinates.

Mr. Hill ridiculed the pretension that Mr. Peffor and his Populist friends were the representatives of the people, and he compared that pretension with the proclamation of the "three lailors of Tooley street." He characterized the Populist Senators as deserters, and as having offered to seil or exchange their votes on the tariff question. They had no settled, fixed purpose. "And this Senator, "the said, "is deliberately asked to agree to this Populist resolution of investigation, on the eve of a Presidential election, so as to enable these men to throw mud at the Democratic party and at their party."

Mr. Hill then sent to the Clerk's desk and had read laterviews as to Senator Chandler's charge about the McKinley "boodle fund." He said he would not say a word against Mr. McKinley. He saimred the man in many respects. Mr. McKinley had the courage to say that he was a candidate for the Presidency. He did not say, as others did, that he was "in the hands of his friends." That usually turned out that the politician found himself "in the hands of his reiends." [Laughter.] Mr. McKinley had the right to aspire to the Presidency, and Mr. Hill supposed that he was making an honorable canvass for it. Therefore he had been startled on reading these charges of "boodle" which had been spread be-

Therefore he had been startled on reading these charges of "boodle" which had been spread before the country.

"I have too much confidence in the Senator from New Hampshire," he said, "to think that the allegations were made thoughtlessly or unadvisedly. I think that he knew what he was talking about. I think that he believed the allegations. They have not been answered. They have not been met. Abuse of that distinguished Senator is not an answer to the allegations. A reflection on his metive does not meet the charges. Here is a distinguished Senator making an allegation against the easing candidate of his own party for the Presidency, against the candidate who is to be nominated, charging the corrupt use of his money to buy his nomination. He charges the levying of contributions on the protected industries for the purpose of securing a platform and a candidate suitable to those interests. Yet no Senator (not even the Senator from Kansas) has asked for an investigation. The charge affects the elective franchise. It is a stab at the foundation of our flovernment."

Mr. Hill then commented upon the Sugar Trust investigation as a remarkable instance of silly investigations as to whether they had speculated in sugar stock.

Mr. Hawley (Rep., Conn.)—And under oath,

Mr. Hawley (Rep., Conn.)—And under oath. Mr. Hawley (Rep., Conn.)—And under oath, too.

Mr. Hill—Of course, under oath. They would not take a Sebator's word, Ani what was the result? They found one Senator who came before the committee and said, "Yes, I did buy some sugar-stocks. I should do it again. I have a right to do it. What are you going to do about it?" And to-day that distinguished Senator (Mr. Quay) is the candidate, the favorite son, of the leading Republican State of the Union for the Presidency; and he has got as many and as warm friends as any man who is a candidate for the Presidency.

Mr. Hill created amusement by referring to warm friends as any man who is a candidate for the Presidency.

Mr. Hill created amusement by referring to Senator McPherson's maid and Senator Ransom's son as other speculators in sugar stock (the latter having invested $10 or $15 in a bucket-shop speculation). And that, he said, was the net result of that great investigation which had been got up on account of newspaper clamer. He mentioned this, he said, simply to show that Senators belittled themselves in the eyes of the neople by ordering investigations without sufficient cause. And he asked Senators to pause before entering on any such ridiculous proceedings again. culous proceedings again.
Without concluding his speech Mr Hill yielded for a motion to proceed to executive business.

The fight against the reflection of Gen. W. B. Franklin as a mem'er of the Board of Managers of the National Soldiers' Home, resulted in the defeat of these who opposed him, the House to-day voting 149 to 50 to continue him on the Board, as recommended by the Committee on Military Affairs. There was a three-hours' debate before a vote was reached, traversing largely the same ground gone over yesterday, the administration of the Leavenworth Home and the policy of the Board in retaining Col.Smith as Governor being the principal points of attack, Messrs, Tracey Rep., Mo., Herburn Rep., Iowal, Kirkpatrick (Rep., Kansa, Calderhead, (Rep., Kan, and Blue Rep., Kan, favored the amendment proposed by the latter to substitute the name of Gen. NEGRO OR MONTAUK INDIANS

His Child to a Colored School. JAMAICA, L. I., April 16,-James Hunter was ried before Justice Wood this morning for failing to send his nine-year-old daughter Adele to the colored school. Lawyer Van Vechten appeared for Hunter, but made no defence, resting his case on the weakness of the prosecution. Justice Wood reserved his decision until next Monday. Hunter says he is a Montauk Indian. Superintendent of Schools Ballard and Truant Officer Wright were the only witnesses against Hunter. The former testified that he refused to admit Hunter's child into the white school, in which action, he was sustained by the Board of Education. Wright added testimony to the effect that Hunter had kept his little girl home

Lawyer Van Vechten declared that there was no evidence to show that the child was not receiving competent instruction at home, and later he said: "Superintendent Ballard, in refusing to admit Hunter's child to the white school, clearly acted in violation of section 393 of the Fenal Code, which makes it a misdemeanor for a principal or superintendent to deny admittance to any child of school age residing in the district."

the district."

Lawyer Faber, who represented the Board of Education, said: "The courts have decided that settlen 393 does not apply to the case of colored children entering white schoels where there is a school in the district especially for them."

BOSSE'S HORSEFLESH RADBED.

The "Choice Cuts" Too Cheap to Meet the Views of the Health Board.

The Health Board refused permission vesterday to Henry Bosse of Brooklyn to sell horseflesh in this city. Bosse applied for a permit several days ago. He said he had a slaughter house at Canarsie, and could sell choice cuts at five cents a pound. He said there was a demand for this food in the sections of the city mand for this lood in the sections of the city where the population was largely foreign. Bosse didnt't explain satisfactorily how he could sell choice horsefiesh so cheen. An inspector was sent to Bosse's place at Canarsie and reported that he found no horseflesh there except the remains of the hind leg of one horse. He learned from neighbors that horses had been slaughtered there.

BILL TO PREVENT ENGLISH YACHTS PLYING OUR FLAG. Payne's Bill Designed to Pre

Vent the Importing of Yachts Like the Vallant, Sylvin, and Margarita Free A bill has just been introduced in Congress by Representative Sereno Payne of this city, designed to amend the existing law in regard to the privileges extended to foreign yachts, and incidentally to prevent citizens of the United States going abroad and building or buying yachts in England and then coming back flying the American flag. Representative Payne's measure is designed to amend an existing law regulating the privileges extended to foreign yachts. Yachts belonging to any foreign nation, which shall extend like privileges to those of the United States, under the present law may use United States ports without entering or clearing at the Castom House or paying tonnage tax. The last sentence of the new measure says The privileges conferred are not to extend to yachts built outside of the country and owned, chartered, or used by citizens of the United States. The new law, if passed in its present shape, would cause any amount of trouble to some of our wealth; rachismen who either own or are laving sachts built on the other side. At the present time four big yachts are being built for Americans on the Clyde from designs of O. I. Watson, who secured the orders when he was over here last summer. They are for Ogden Goelet, Eugene Higgins, A. J. Drezel, and Robert Goelet. Another boat, which was completed this year, is the Arcturus for Rutherfurd Stuyvesant of this city. These boats will cost from $150,000 to $500,000 each and represent a total outlay of over a million dollars, and American builders and designers think this money should have been spent here.

A member of the New York Yacht Club, in speaking of this bill and its effect on the boats now building, was quoted yesterday as saying:

"If this bill passes, i do not think it will be permitted to go through in such shape as to apply to the yachts now being built in Great Hritain for American owners. That would be manifestly unfair, and I am doubtful whether the bill will pass at all, in view of the decisions of the courts in the Conqueror and other cases.

"Works of art are admitted free of duty, Yacht designers are surely artists. The matter has nothing to do with trade or commerce, and If a man happens to see a pretty yacht sbroad and chooses to aid her to his possessions, why The new law, if passed in its present shape, has nothing to do with trade or commerce, and if a man happens to see a pretty yacht abroad and chooses to aid her to his possessions, why should he not be permitted to bring her under the American flag:

A well-known yacht designer, in speaking of the proposed bill, said that he was in favor of it and hoped that it would pass.

"Now," he continued, "could anything be more absurd than for the Commodore of a yacht club, which was formed for the express purpose of encouraging yachting and boatbuilding in the United States, to travel around in an Englishbuilt boat. Yet that is precisely what is done to-day.

ciub, which was formed for the express purpose of encouraging yachting and boatbuilding in the United States, to travel around in an Englishbuilt boat. Yet that is precisely what is done today.

"When E. D. Morgan brought over the Katrina, afterward known as the Ramola, some years ago, it seemed to start an epidemic for foreiga-built yachts, for since that time any number of large yachts bave been imported from England, including W. K. Vanderbilt's Vallant, F. W. Vanderbilt's Conqueror, E. D. Morgen's Margarita, which was brought over by Mr. Drexel last year: A. J. Cassatt's Star of the Sea, A. V. Armour's Ituna, brought over by Mr. Drexel last year: A. J. Cassatt's star of the Sea, A. V. Armour's Ituna, brought over by E. D. Morgen: E. N. Dickerson's Novya, E. M. Brown's Sylvia, Mrs. John H. Fell's Barracouta, John Taylor Lord's Oneen Mab. Ferry Reimont's Statucilla, F. G. D'Hauteville's Zara and the Hermonie, brought over last year by Robert Goelet.

"There is no doubt that the American owners of foreign-built yachts have enjoyed unfair privileges under our law as it stands that it was never intended to convey. An American at present cannot bring a foreign merchant ship under our flag, unless she has been wrecked and remaired in this country at a cost of three-fourths of ner value, or unless he obtains special legislation to register her, but a yachtsman may buy a foreign yacht and bring ner here and put her under the American flag without paying duty upon her or obtaining any special legislation. He is not legally entitled to fly the Stars and Stripes on such a yacht, but there is no way to prevent him. That is why the Sylvia, Vallant, and the rest fly the American flag, though they are no more entitled to than a Cunard steamer."

A. Cary Smith, the well-known designer, recently condemned the practice of building yachts abroad in the following terms: "Yachtsmuc claim that good yachts cannot be built in this country. Some of the yachts built hero have been failures, but that he because those who have ordered

WHEELING.

The I., A. W.-A. A. U. Trouble May Be Set tied at To-morrow's Meeting.

President sterling Elilott of the League of American Wheelmen has appointed L. B. Potter, the Chief Consul of the New York State division of the league, a delegate to the Board meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union to be held in this city to-morrow. Mr. Potter will Raymond, resigned. The object of Potter's appointment is satisfactorily to settle the dispute now pending between the two organizations in relation to articles of alliance. The A. A. U. officials take the position that the present agreement is unsatisfactory insomuch as under it the L. A. W. has all privileges while the Athletic body receives scant recognition. President Elliott has instructed Potter to take any stems harmonious relations between the two associ-

According to the existing alliance, bicycle riders are allowed to compete with suspended athletes, and the L. A. W. has officially santioned bicycle events at unregistered games, which is contrary to the wishes of the A. A. U. people. Chief Consul Potter says that he believes that the association should have equal privileges and recognition, and he feels sure that steps will be taken with this object in view. Potter will submit his report to the Executive Committee of the L. A. W. Secretary Sullivan of the Amateur Athletic Union informed The Sun reporter yesterday that he feels that the selection of Mr. Potter to attend the union meeting will avert all impending trouble between the two bodles, and that a new alliance or entisfactory alterations to the existing agreement will be the result of Saturday's meeting. The Kentucky division of the League of American Wheelmen, under whose auspices the this year at Louisville, has received official committee is now at work arranging for the meet.

Gen, John B. Castleman, famous the South over, has been selected as Chairman of the General Entertainment Committee. This committee will have charge of everything in the entertaining line. It will be divided into sub-committees, each sub-committee having its own Chairman as follows: Credentials, Charles Jonkins; Reception, W. W. Watts; Smokers and Watermelon Feast, R. F. Maxwell; Tours Out of Town, Will Rubey; Local Tours and Runs, George Kast; Parade, Newton G. Crawfond; Manufacturers' Pageant, Ed H. Bacon; Ball, John B. Castleman; Steamboat Excursion, Arthur H. Robinson.

George Kast: Parade, Newton G. Crawford: Manufacturers' Pageant, Ed H. Bacon; Ball, John B. Castleman; Steamboat Excursion, Arthur H. Robinson.

The Race Committee has made up a programme as far as possible before the receipt of the new racing rules. There will be eight races each of the three days, four class A and four professional. Permission to offer prizes greater in value than the present limit, 335 and $190, has been asked for. The desire is to make these prizes as valuable as possible, and at least $3,000 will be hung m.

This committee is receiving numerous suggestions for the appointment of gentlemen well known on the track as officials. The very hest men obtainable are to be selected as officials, but no names have as yet been decided on. Mr. Gide-in will be invited to act as referee, and other members of the hacing Board will be selected for other places.

A feature of the rational meet will be the tours that will precede and follow it. Indiana division L. A. W. Is already arranging a gigantic series of tours from all sections of that State. The tours through Kentucky that will follow the meet, starting Sunday morning, will be notably enjoyable. Mr. Ed P. Evans of Louisville is now at work on a tour to Mammoth Cave. ville is now at work on a tour to Mammoth Cave. The distance is about 130 miles over some of the best and some of the worst roads in the State. It usually requires two days and a half for a party to cover the distance. Mr. George Kast is arranging a tour to Mayaville, distance about 140 miles, over the most famous roads in Kentucky, through many historical places. Frankfort will be visited, and Daniel Boone's tomb looked at. Lexington, the home of Henry Clay, and several of the largest stock farms in the Binegrass region will be visited. A stop will be made at Blue Lick Springs, many years ago the Long Branch of the Sorpings many rears ago the Long Branch of the South. At Mayaville, ateambeat may be taken for Cincinnati or Louisville.

Give a Clever Exhibition of Riding at the Driving Club.

Brooklyn's exclusive Riding and Driving Club whose spacious home faces the Prospect Park Plaza, was thronged last evening to its utmost capacity by an aristocratic company of specta tors, who were eager and anxious to witness the mounted athletic exercises by the members of the rough riding class.

White the members of the class are recruited from Brooklyn's first families, the feats they performed remind one morn of the performances of Buffalo Bill's Cossacks than the usual park or riding school exercises one is accustomed to see at exhibitions of this kind.

The performance opened with bareback exercises in which the young men jumped and vaulted on, off, and over the horses at a walk, trot, and gailon, incidentally clearing hurdles during the last portion of the act. Then followed a general class ride in which the members of the class turned completely around with their horses on a gailop and incidentally caught tennis balls to show how easy a matter it was. Sabre exercises followed, and several wooden heads suffered in the melec, while tent pegs were picked up by the score. Cossack riding followed. This consisted of riding standing up on short stirrups pulled right up to the lower part of the saidle. The young men gave a very daring exhibition of riding, and a number of competitive events brought the programme to a successful conclusion. In the potato race E. S. Hewett was the first to finish. The umbrella race was won by Winthrop M. Tuttle. In the manikin race G. Herbert Patter won the first heat and S. C. Pirie the second, while the wresting contest on horseback was won by Winthrop M. Tuttle, W. C. Candee, W. G. Giimore, Jr., and J. M. White, Jr. Capt. Philip B. Del Bosco commanded the class. The performance opened with bareback exer-

The meeting will also consider an important report from the New England Association of the union relating to the amateur status of clubs in that district. The local investigators have been unable to size up the matter thoroughly, and they invite the parent body to take action. A sweeping inquiry is likely to result, and a reorganization of the district is talked of. Some lively discussion is anticipated in connection with the L. A. W. articles of alliance. Representatives of the Intercollegiate Association will be admitted for the first time, the A. A. U. governors having ratified the articles of agreement with the collegiate body by mall vote. The question of alliance with the X. M. C. HALMA'S BOWED TENDON.

IT MAY KEEP THE WESTERN COLT OUT OF BACING THIS YEAR.

The Spredy Son of Manover Under Treat-ment at Dr. Sheppard's Infirmary— Trouble Is Due to a Rupture Under the Fellock Soint-Me Will Mayo to Be Fired. Horsemen in general and backers of form in crack Western colt Halma has been turned out of training for an indefinite period, which may include the entire racing season. He will certainly not start in any of the big early handlcaps, and those who had either taken or contemplated a plunge on him in the Metropolitan,

Brooklyn, or Suburban handlcaps will now have to try again. Halma's trouble is in the off foreles and is re garded as so serious that he has been transferred from Morris Park to Dr. Sheppard's in-firmary, near the Sheepshead Bay track, for immediate treatment. The story that he went amiss in his gallops at West Chester has a tinge of romance about it, the fact being that the coit was under suspicion before leaving Cincinnati for his proposed Eastern campaign. Under date of April 6 Charles Fleischmann & Son, who own Haima, wrote to Dr. Sheppard asking him to go to Morris Park and examine one of their horses shipped to that track in care of Trainer Tucker. The Doctor went there on last Sunday and discovered that Halms, the gem of the string, was the one to receive attention. The noted black was found to be suffering from bowed tendon, or in technical terms, a rupture of the flexor pedia tendon, that minute but vital portion of the equine anatomy located under the fetlock joint. Dr. Sheppard immediately advised that the colt be turned out of training be fore the trouble became more aggravated, and vesterday a stable lad rode Halma quietly down fore the trouble became more aggravated, and yesterday a stable lad rode Halma quietly down to the Doctors' infirmary, where he is likely to remain for a considerable time.

When seen last night by The Sun reporter Dr. Sheupard explained the nature of the trouble in detail. He is particularly interested in the case, as in past years he had nursed Halma's sire, the mighty Hanover, through all his little aliments. He finds Halma a duplicate of his progenitor in temperament, each being very highly strung and sensitive thoroughbreds requiring the gentlest handling and treatment, He is devoting his attention to reducing the infiammation around the ruptured tendon, and when that subsides in the course of a few days the colt will be punch fired. The Doctor seems confident that a cure can be effected, but hardly wentures to hope that Halma can be wound up to racing pitch without grave risk earlier than the fall, if at all this year. The colt shows no lameness in walking or jogging, but in galloping the stiffness is apparent to the expert eye. Dr. Sheppard is convinced that if Halma's preparation had not been interrupted the valuable animal would have stood an even chance of breaking down permanently.

The Fleischmanns paid Byron McClelland $25,000 for Halma last year, and he ran in their colors on May 23, when he won the Latonia Derby, one mile and a half. Halma carried 127 pounds, which included a five-pound penalty, and was beaten by Free Advice, 117 pounds, in 1500s. Altogether, during his three-year-old career Halma ran in six races and suffered detail gree Advice, Basso, Satsuma, and Biasco. On his next appearance in public. June 15, in the Himyar Stakes, one and one-eighth miles, at Latonia, Halma carried 129 pounds, and was beaten by Free Advice, 117 pounds, in 1500s. Altogether, during his three-year-old career Halma ran in six races and suffered detail in the Himyar Stakes, one and one-eighth miles, at Latonia, healma carried 199 pounds, and was beaten by Free Advice, Bissoo, three-quarters of a mile defeated at Latonia, his achievements were as follows:

defeated Curator by six lengths in 2:154.

Halma is a four-year-old black colt, by Hanover-Julia L. by Lonnfellow. In each of the three early handleaps this year 117 pounds was allotted to him. Many shrewd Judges thought him capable of giving a strong argument to Henry of Navarre, and his owners liked his chances so well that they engaged Fred Taral to pilot him. Although his enforced retirement will weaken the Fleischmann combination, the balance of the string at Morris Park may make some amends. In the lot are:

BIGH PRICES FOR PARK HORSES.

A Notable Sale at the Horse Exchange-Brayton Ives Buys X Ray for $1,000.

About the best collection of park horses that have been sold in this city this season were offered yesterday at the American Horse Exchange, under the management of W. D. Grand. A. J. Nutting of Brooklyn paid $1,600 for Little Duke and Holly, a pair of cobby-built, dock-tailed trotters from the West, that displayed fine style and extravagant action when shown before a spider phaeton in front of the exchange. X Ray, a grand-looking big bay gelding by the noted trotting stallion Masterlode, sire of Edward, 2:10; Belle F., 2:15%, and other great campaigners, excited the most spirited bidding of any of the single steppers, Brayton Ives finally getting him for $1,000. Several other pairs passed the $1,000 mark, and the average for the twenty-eight head consigned by M. H. Tichener & Co. was $588. Seven of these ant-

Tichener & Co, was $688. Seven of these animals were saddle horses, for which $2,985 was realized, or an average of $423 each. The twenty-one harness borses brought $12,100, an average of $672.

Before the Tichenor horses were offered Howard Gibb's well-known tandem, The Devil's Deputy and Ben Boru, were put up for sale. W. J. Ellas got the leader for $700, while Hen Boru, went for the same price to W. S. Wormser, Gibb paid $3,400 for The Devil's Deputy at the Silver Cup sale last season.
